

Apple – Making your iPhone secure

Analytics and advertising - Turning off 'Analytics' means Apple won't get data on how your device performs (in a nutshell, you'll be handing over less data!).

Disabling the 'Advertising' means you won't get ads that are targeted to your interests.

- 1. Tap on Settings.
- 2. Then tap on Privacy.
- 3. Scroll to the bottom where it will show Analytics and Advertising.
- 4. Turn 'Share iPhone Analytics' off if you don't want to share analytic data from your phone to Apple.
- 5. To remove ads ensure 'Limit Ad Tracking' is turned on.

Safari - Settings can be changed to boost your privacy, by doing this you can prevent:

- Cross-site tracking Some websites use third-party content providers. You can stop third-party content providers from tracking you across websites to advertise products and services.
- ✓ Block all cookies A cookie is a piece of data that a site puts on your device, so it can remember you when you visit again. Turning this on may prevent some websites from working properly.
- ✓ Ask websites not to track you You can also ask individual websites and others who provide those sites with content, including advertisers not to track you.
- ✓ Get warnings for fraudulent websites Scammers use any means they can, fake emails, pop-up ads, text messages, even phone calls to try to trick you into sharing personal information, such as your Apple ID password or credit card information.

Settings can be changed by:

- 1. Tap on Settings.
- 2. Scroll down to where it says Safari.
- 3. Swipe the ones that you think need turning on.

Notifications - Allows you to turn off iMessage notifications for anyone who isn't in your contacts.

- 1. Tap on Settings.
- 2. Scroll down to Messages.
- 3. Scroll down and tap 'Filter Unknown Senders'.

You can also turn off previews, this will stop anyone picking up your iPhone or iPad from having a glimpse at the most recent notifications – even when the device is locked.

- 1. Tap on Settings.
- 2. Tap on Notifications.
- 3. Tap on Messages.
- 4. Make sure 'Show on Lock Screen' is not turned on.
- 5. At the bottom, tap on 'Show Previews' and tap 'Never'.
